

Dear FCC,

Please reconsider your proposed change to the LPFM rules. For many years while I lived in the Portland Oregon area K-Love was the only contemporary Christian radio station available. There is another station in the market now but it does not meet my needs or offer the same services and support that K-Love does. I travel across the US for work and have been able to find a K-love station in many markets. A family friendly, community service oriented station like K-Love is an asset to the community. Replacing K-Love with other LPFM stations would have a detrimental effect on the local community. K-Love supports the local communities and would be a great loss in the markets where the new LPFM rules may displace its translators. Positive music, encouraging positive lifestyles, and positive community impact is what K-Love brings to its markets. Please don't push them out for more of what people can already hear on regular FM or AM stations.

Thank you.
